

British Association of Dangerous Goods Professionals

BADGP supports professional people working in any capacity with Dangerous Goods in whatever mode of transport and whichever class or classes they are involved with.

The purpose of BADGP is to promote the safe transport of materials that present risk, by supporting the professionals who work in the business of Dangerous Goods.

‘Supporting people who work with dangerous goods.’

We are a growing, not-for-profit, UK based association that offers membership to any person who works with, or is involved with, the transport of dangerous goods – you don’t have to be a DGSA to join. BADGP also welcomes members from overseas: currently we have dangerous goods professionals based in the UK, Cyprus, Ireland, Israel and Portugal.

Our members work in a wide range of companies across many different sectors of industry and all share:

- a professional interest in the transport of dangerous goods
- a keen desire to maintain and develop their knowledge and skills
- the need to keep up to date with legislative changes
- best practice

Our members work, for shippers, road hauliers, freight forwarders, chemical manufacturers, logistic companies, ferry operators, shipping lines, trade associations, providers of printed and digital legislation and International Agreements, label and documentation suppliers, software systems and individual consultants.

- Does your job involve dangerous goods?
- Does your company manufacture, import, export or market dangerous goods?
- Does your company carry dangerous goods by road, sea or air?
- Do you arrange carriage as a forwarder?
- Do you pack dangerous goods into vehicles or containers?
- Are you involved in the storage of dangerous goods?

If the answer to any of the above is “Yes” read on to see how joining the British Association of Dangerous Goods Professionals could help you...

badgp.org

British Association of Dangerous Goods Professionals

Benefits of Membership

We understand the challenges and responsibilities you face in the transport of dangerous goods. BADGP is the only UK organisation formed exclusively to provide you with technical and professional support to help you to overcome those challenges.

With your membership you receive:

- Free admission to our annual multi-modal industry day seminar that takes place immediately after the annual general meeting
- Updates on a wide variety of topics through our scheduled seminars and webinars run throughout the year given by top experts and with discounted rates for members
- Representation of our members at UK Government stakeholder groups (DfT, MCA and CAA) and as the UK member of EASA (European Association of [national association] dangerous goods Safety Advisers)
- Opportunities to network and interact with fellow dangerous goods professionals at our events and from the 1,700 contributors on our Linked-In website forum
- Free regular informative newsletters with articles of topical interest contributed by our members
- Participation in member surveys and polls to provide your feedback on regulatory issues
- Access to Members only area of website for useful documents and presentation downloads
- Access to unparalleled source of information, advice and guidance through our forums and meetings
- Information on suppliers of dangerous goods labels, specialist packaging, documentation and software systems and emergency response
- Contact details of numerous specialists in the dangerous goods field

Be part of the growing professional community of Dangerous Goods Professionals

Become a Member

Membership is on an individual basis and costs less than you think!

You can request to Join BADGP by simply completing our online application form

www.badgp.org/badgp-membership

Or email our office with any question or queries at enquiries@badgp.org

'Don't delay, join today!'

badgp.org